

Mount Allison University Board of Regents

Jean-Paul Boudreau was appointed from Ryerson as the new President. Dr. Boudreau is a person of deep faith, attending church regularly. He brings a great new energy to the campus. It's a very exciting time; however, along came the strike which thankfully was very short lived and got resolved, and very quickly after that came COVID-19. Like most universities in Canada, it has created a huge upheaval and challenges. Mount Allison University responded very quickly to ensure the safety and health of students and faculty. Fortunately New Brunswick has had very few cases; however, it's a very precarious time for universities. So the administration is planning for various scenarios, all of which are extremely challenging. The financial implications are immense. The good news is that Mount Allison University continues to have a very good reputation and continues to be ranked high in most university surveys. I am honoured to serve as the representative on the Board of Regents.
